Towards an Outer Space Strategy – The NATO Perspective

- NATO should create a space planning committee within the North Atlantic Council
- NATO should designate space assets as critical infrastructure and include them in a revised Article 6
- NATO should strengthen its diplomatic efforts, establish cooperation with the relevant actors and establish the Space Centre of Excellence jointly with the EU.
- NATO should develop common standards to ensure the interoperability of its space systems and Space Situational Awareness
- NATO should incentivise acquisition of space capacities by member states through specific targets to strengthen its defensive capabilities in space.

Implement a “Climate Risk Council”

- Implement Subordinate Structures incl. centres of excellence
- Enable binding decision-making
- Establish an “Arctic Alliance Platform” which can also serve to cooperate with Russia in the region (e.g. technical consultation and evaluation of risks)

Start a “Green Defence Framework 2.0”

- Status Quo: Overview of the carbon emission of the member states with regards to military operations
- Assess future battlefield scenarios
- How will future scenarios / climate conditions influence personnel and equipment?
→ NATO should strengthen its platform for strategic foresight
- Test Private Public Cooperation
→ Find synergies to develop climate friendly methods in order to reduce dependence on fossil fuels
- Increasing resilience in likely to be affected societies:

Great Power Competition – How Does it Impact NATO?

- NATO should go for a new Grand Strategy
NATO member states should agree on a common position towards Russia, China and other forthcoming challenges
- NATO member states should foster domestic resilience
Only strong member states can strengthen NATO, internal challenges such as populism and disinformation weaken the whole Alliance.
- NATO member states should optimize the transnational level cooperation
We need to strengthen the NATO-EU-Cooperation, the Common Security and Defence Policy and regional forums like Weimar triangle
